Exhaust Cover

There are over 12,000 C-130 aircraft worldwide. Each uses four powerful turboprop engines, and additional spare engines are typically stored nearby.

When left unused, the engine's gas paths become susceptible to corrosion and contamination that cause damage or destruction.

Heritage Packaging designed and developed the cover systems that preserve the engine gas path without the need to run the engines- a costly and time-consuming process.

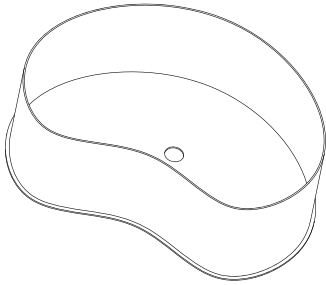

Choose from individual part numbers or a kit (see reverse).

Gas path preservation covers work both on-wing and on engine stand.
